

Aggies Aim to Win From The Gallaudet Eleven

DEFEAT THE AGGIES, IS GALLAUDET CRY

Buff and Blue Will Shape Team to Even Up Score of Last Year.

COACH NOT YET SELECTED
Manager Patterson Arranges Heavy Schedule, Including Many Long Jumps.

By BRYAN MORSE.

"Defeat the Maryland Aggies!" This is the slogan of the Gallaudet football players who will assemble at Kendall Green shortly under the leadership of Captain Politz, the crack end of last year's successful eleven, which was coached by Fritz Crafts, former George Washington star halfback.

From the time the candidates are called until the last minute of the fourth quarter on November 22, when the Aggies are tackled at College Park, every effort will be bent toward getting ahead of the Agricultural College.

Gallaudet will shape its team with the sole purpose of getting even for that 12-to-7 score in favor of the Aggies last year, when, with any sort of luck, the Buff and Blue players would have come through with a win.

It is a bit early to know just what will be available for the Kendall Green eleven this year. The coaching policy has as yet been undetermined, although it is rumored that "Hip" Dugan will take charge of the team this year.

Prospects Not Bright.

At the start of the season last year, Gallaudet had anything but bright prospects, although when the call for candidates went out every man in college came out for the team. Something like thirty-five in number responded to Coach Crafts and with the spirit manifested right at the jump, the plucky Gallaudet team put out an eleven which reflected credit on the institution and coach.

In the first contest V. M. I. defeated the Buff and Blue by 22 to 6. The fact that the team was able at all to score on the eleven which trimmed the University of Virginia, failing to allow the Orange and Blue to cross its goal line, was an achievement to be proud of. Baltimore City College was defeated by 38 to 25 in the next engagement, while the Norfolk Blues were trounced by 22 to 0. Billy Stittender's eleven being handily defeated in this engagement.

Apparently the Gallaudet team got away with the long end of a 23 to 13 score, the Kendall Greeners suffering from the effects of an across the bay trip on the way to Chestertown.

A Maryland Agricultural College won the annual battle 13 to 7 in one of the most grueling of games, which was allowed to run overtime on account of an error in timing. This, the team is proud of, and it is almost safe to predict that no opportunity will again be given to allow mistakes of the kind to again happen. The season was closed with a brilliant victory over Johns Hopkins by 18 to 0.

This season Manager Patterson has gotten together an attractive list of games which will be played from every angle of the game. Right at the jump of the Buff and Blue will be called upon to meet the Washington and Lee team at Lexington. Jim Reilly, who is field coach at the Naval Academy, left a team at Lexington last fall which was reputed one of the strongest in the section. Miles, Miller, and Rafferty show promise, and will probably be back. The date of this contest is October 4.

Plays At Richmond.

Richmond College is to be met at Richmond on the following Saturday, and the Virginia State championship is likely to be won by the Buff and Blue. Following Saturday, October 19, the Baltimore City College team is met in the first home engagement. Following this is the sturdy Rock Hill College team is played at Kendall Green.

Western Maryland finds a place on the Gallaudet schedule for the first time in many years. On November 8 the team is to be taken to Raleigh, where it will meet the Johnson's Wake Forest eleven. The former Carolina A. and M. player has succeeded in getting a great eleven at Wake Forest, and the team last season delivered the goods in approved style.

Hopkins is off the schedule this season the managers failing to get together a satisfactory date, and while George Washington was scheduled for November 14, it is likely that the Buff and Blue manager will get some other engagement. On November 22 the annual M. A. C. game is played.

Several members of last year's eleven will be on hand at the start of the campaign. Politz, Henderson, Clausen, Rockwell, Moore, Kelly, Marshall, and Rasmussen are being counted upon to return as the backbone of the team, and it is shaped to beat M. A. C. this season.

Washington Goller Leaves For Brookline, Mass.

By Goldberg

M'LEOD GOES AWAY FOR GOLF TOURNEY

Columbia Professional, With Sargent and Beckett, Leave for Brookline Event.

By "CLEEK."

Freddie McLeod, one of the Washington nominations for the national open championship which will start at Brookline, Mass., a week from today with the greatest field of golfers ever gotten together, is leaving the city late today for tomorrow morning to get some work-outs prior to his entrance into the tournament.

George Sargent, the Chevy Chase professional, is also taking the trip, as is Howard Beckett, the Washington Country Club pro, Sargent, who holds the Canadian open championship, is a former national open titleholder, as is McLeod. Beckett is taking his first try at the big event and expects to better his showing made at the Shawnee tourney.

Both McLeod and Sargent will meet Ray and Vardon, who are expected to come here during the first week of next month, for a best ball match at the Chevy Chase and Columbia Country Clubs.

Yale loomed up strong in the inter-collegiate golf championship tournament, which began yesterday at the Huntington Valley Country Club, winning all three of the four rounds, five of the six singles. Princeton lost one foursome and two singles. Thus Harvard and Pennsylvania have been eliminated from further competition in the team championship.

The foursmen played in the morning and the foursomes in the afternoon. Yale caused the greatest surprise by winning all three of the foursome matches. E. F. Allen, third paired with F. Sargent and R. M. Baker, of the Crimson, and Julien T. Bishop and C. M. Baxter 5 and 2 to go.

Ex-President William H. Taft springs into prominence in the golfing world by some fair performances on the links. The Yale professor has been trending the summer at Manchester, Vermont, and playing daily on the famous Ekwonok Golf Club course, has turned in some creditable scores. A 47 for 9 holes is a fair performance, his last before returning to New Haven.

One stroke holes are getting to be common occurrences these days. At the Hawthorn Country Club A. B. Wall has made a 22-yard hole in one recently.

Arrangements have practically been perfected for a match between Jack McDermott, the Atlantic City golf star, who is the national metropolitan and Massachusetts golf champion, and Jimmy Barnes, the crack Tacoma, Wash., golfer, the match to be for a purse of $5,000 and to be played over the Country Club course at Brookline some time before the start of the national open championship tourney, which starts September 16. Barnes has the undoubted backing of a wealthy Pacific coast line magnate. He is already in Boston and is daily playing. McDermott has sent word from Atlantic City that he will arrive in Boston Sunday or Monday and will immediately get down to business. McDermott is intent on winning the national open tourney at Brookline later in the month. He is willing to meet Barnes before the open tourney, in order that he may quicken his game.

The playing of Grantland Rice in the annual newspaper golf tourney in New York yesterday was unusually good. Rice turned in a 75, which tied with Earl Sims for the low score among the newspaper men.

Charles Daly Will Coach Army Eleven

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Lieut. Charles Daly, who was a star football player at Harvard and later on the Army team, is in West Point, and will act during the present season as head coach of the Army's big football squad. Daly put the men through an hour of strenuous practice today.

BINGLES AND BUNTS

By GRANTLAND RICE.

Jerome Dunstan Travers.

Aye, Jerry, mon, ye're there again. We all you bonny play! A wee bit off from what you hae When in the wind's way! A wee bit off, aye bonnie lad, But aye with bonny soul. They dinna ken the road like you Frae tee intae the hole.

Aye, Jerry, on, ye're still on top— On top where ye belong! Ye may nae use the wood at a— Yeer mangle may go wrong!

Another "Invictus."

Colonel Travers might also sing with the late Mr. Henley: It matters not how straight the way, How charged with punishment each frame; I am the master of my play, I am the captain of my game.

A man's friends are often his worst enemies, as some one has said before this. One of Chick Evans' friends stuck in 3 additional putters. If Chick couldn't use one, how the deuce could he use four?

The Giants start West with a lead in the vicinity of eight games. Whatever the other details it strikes us here that the Phillies are the ones to worry.

On the other hand it is generally the other way round. The bloke on top has it and might lose it. The worst that can happen to the pursuer is that he doesn't lose what he hasn't got.

Technical Decision.

Over that protested Giant-Phillie game the National League board of directors, if it got that close, might decide to send the Giants back to play out that last inning. If this happened would Doolin have to send Chalmers to pitch and McGraw use the same batting order that was up at the time? And what about a renewal of the hat and handkerchief brigade in center field? We pass. The National League board of directors are the ones to employ what bother there is attached to this smear.

The Giants in the last month have lost 15 points to the man in batting. At this rate by October 7, what will the rival comparison be vs. Collins, Baker, McInnis, etc?

Clonell Murphy is quoted as saying that Johnny Evers did well enough with the material he had at hand. Yet we indistinctly recall a modest murmur from the colonel last spring that said material was "the finest ever gathered on a ball field."

On the other hand, if Johnny put a club in third place that was generally picked to finish fifth, where is Fred Clarke with a team in fourth place generally picked to finish first? And who is there to suggest that Fred Clarke isn't still something of a manager, as managers go?

Joe Jackson may still be deficient in certain branches of higher literature, but could Arnold Bennett or Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler drop below Ty Cobb and then dash on past him again at the edge of the stretch?

DARTMOUTH LINE PRESENTS PROBLEM

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 9.—The first regular practice of the Dartmouth football squad was held yesterday at Alumni Oval. Fully thirty veterans and eleven o'ars' freshmen reported and followed the directions of Frank Cavahugh, the head coach, who was assisted by Walter Elcock and "Moose" Engelhorn. "Bud" Whitney, Captain Horst, and Nat Ambrose, former Amherst star, showed good form in the kicking department. Hogsett has developed considerably in drop-kicking, and should prove a valuable asset to the Green eleven.

Whitney, Hogsett, Curtis, Ambrose, and Woodworth, the half backs, reported. Llewellyn, Cumisky, and Hutchins, the quarter backs, were in uniform, and Dunbar, Dellinger, Hinman, Shaw, Douglas, and McLaughlin are the most promising of the linemen that have returned. There is the prospect that the back field will be strong, but the lack of material for a good line is causing considerable anxiety.

O'CONNOR IS AGAIN CHOSEN TO REFEREE

Again Pat F. O'Connor, popular wrestler and boxing instructor, and referee has been chosen to officiate at the open-air wrestling matches at Vigilant Park, the next bouts to be staged there being Friday night, when Joe Turner puts his recently regained Police Gazette middleweight belt against John Streeb, of England. O'Connor's fair reputation as an official has made his services much in demand, as his presence in a ring also insures the sanest and fairest decision. Instead of staging three matches, two preliminaries and a main bout, two all-star matches are to be put on. For the coming bouts a new higher ring has been erected so that every seat in the stands affords a clear vision of the wrestlers above the heads of the ring-side spectators. A larger number of ring-side seats has been provided, and none need fear inability to get accommodations right at the mat side.

VANDERBILT RACE MAY BE CALLED OFF

Deadlock Over Entry Fees Is Likely to Halt Contests on Savannah Track.

By HARRY WARD.

The Vanderbilt Cup and grand prize automobile races, scheduled to be run at Savannah in November, may be declared off, owing to a deadlock between the manufacturers and owners of racing cars, on the one hand, and the Savannah Automobile Club, on the other. The former contend that the Southern organization asks entirely too much in the way of entry fees, in comparison with the amount of prize money offered.

The automobile club takes the ground that it cannot afford to run the races unless it charges high fees to entrants. The receipts from a road race are confined entirely from the grandstands, and do not produce enough to pay the expenses of the contests, run the way that has made the Savannah a model of the world.

As far as negotiations for entries have progressed, the outlook is decidedly poor. There are several reasons for the decline of interest on the part of manufacturers in the races for the two classic cups. The most important is that factory executives generally agree that automobile racing has had its day, and that success in speed contests is no longer a big factor in promoting the sale of cars.

If the club decides not to run the contests this fall "speed fairs" in all parts of the country will be disappointed. The artistic staging of the races over the Savannah circuit has always made them a delight to the admirer of fast competition unmarred by the probability of accidents so likely to happen on a narrow and improperly guarded circuit.

Pennsylvania Rowing Coaches Visit Quarters

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—Vivian Nickalls, the famous English oarsman recently signed as the coach of the University of Pennsylvania crews, has arrived in Philadelphia. He visited the College Boat Club on the Schuylkill river, where the Red and Blue crews are launched.

Nickalls came to this city to meet the members of the rowing committee and to inspect the coaching launch and the boats rigged in the College Boat Club. Nickalls is only a famed rowing coach, but he is a past master at rigging crews, and he wanted to see how Ellis Ward, the old coach, has his eight rigged.

Nickalls has had much success at Detroit, where he coached the scullers and sweep oarsmen. The Detroit B. C. tried to obtain his consent to return to them after he had done with the Red and Blue crews each season, but he stated that it would take all his time in Philadelphia.

The new crew coach comes to Philadelphia with the stamp or approval of Dr. John Gardner, the stroke of the club, Henley eight, sent to England by Penn thirteen years ago. Gardner knew of Nickalls' work in Detroit and recommended him to the rowing committee.

President J. G. Slye, of the Department of Physical Education, has called a meeting of the managers of the different teams in the circuit for tonight at the clubrooms of the league, at 39 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, for the purpose of reorganizing the circuit. All those interested in the welfare of the league, or any manager wishing to enter a team are cordially invited to attend.

Betting Is Heavy.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, Sept. 9.—With the Ritchie Welsh match, seven days away, considerable money already has been posted on the result, the favorite being the Welsh. The most part are holding off, however, confident that they can get the best end of the contest odds before the two lightweights enter the ring.

BOB THAYER'S SPORTING GOSSIP

"EVERY KNOCK IS A BOOST."

Now comes Love.

Not satisfied with finding one likely looking southpaw in Jack Bentley, Clark Griffith produces "Slim" Love, the tallest athlete in the big league. The newcomer from Atlanta made a most favorable impression in the one inning he pitched against the Yankees. Apparently the Old Fox means to collect a most formidable pitching staff for next year. Well, he has my permission.

Races tightening.

Both big league races are tightening. Today the Mackmen are leading by six games and the Giants by seven and a half. With the White Sox appearing at Shibe Park, the lead now held by the White Elephants may divide, provided the Naps win steadily from the Griffins. This little old race isn't finished yet, by a long shot. Keep your eyes on them, boys, and don't miss anything.

Just insanity.

Wilmington, Del., must be a model city. Back alleys must be non-existent. Citizens must carry individual drinking cups. Sewerage must be perfect. The board of health, finding conditions ideal in Wilmington and being desirous of earning their salaries, have declared war on the spitball as "liable to undermine the health of the players." If you can find a more foolish crusade than this, show it to me.

Stahl for Brownies.

Jake Stahl is said to be a prospective manager for the St. Louis Browns, having the backing of Ban Johnson. Having shown ability, Stahl should be able to purchase stock in the St. Louis club, something that Rickey can hardly do. Furthermore, Rickey has the backing only of himself, while Stahl has the boss of the league behind him. There must be something doing in the Mound City.

Battle for title.

The Washington Cricket Club is going to Sutton, Md., on Sunday with the idea of winning the fight for the integrity title against the Sons of St. George. Capt. Jimmy Rose will be in the line-up and it behooves the bat wielders to get a bit of action before the game comes off. Lack of practice on the spitball as "liable to undermine the health of the players." The team should have won even if there were but five regulars in the line-up.

A. and M. prospects.

Caroline A. and M. is going to have some football team if the word of Dr. John Hegarty is to be taken into consideration. Hegarty is enthusiastic beyond all words. At the same time he has a large following at Newburyport, Mass., and the Southerners are likely to see some good examples of high school football.

PRINCETON ELEVEN HOLDS FIRST WORK

Coaches Andrews and Blumenthal Are in Charge of Tigers' Practice.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 9.—Twenty-five candidates for the Princeton football eleven of 1913 began their initial practice of the year. They are seasoned candidates who have trained conscientiously this summer at the suggestion of the coaches, some of them together in a camp in the North and others individually.

The work is in charge of Coaches H. C. Andrews, last year's end on the Tiger team, and a member of the squad for three years, and A. Blumenthal, who played at center the last three years. Working with these men will be the graduate advisory committee of five alumni, all of them former stars, headed by E. D. McLeave as chairman.

Andrews and Blumenthal take the places of Logan Cunningham, '10, and T. A. Wilson, '12, as field coaches, with direct supervision of the practices. Andrews and Captain Baker have been in charge of some of the candidates during the last week, working out lightly at Watch Hill, R. I.

Washington Cricketers Tackle Sons on Sunday

Capt. Jimmy Rose and the Washington Cricket Club will journey to Sutton, Md., on Sunday to play the Sons of St. George for the final game of the series. The Washington club played a drawn game at Rock Creek Park last Sunday, and are looking forward to a win in the coming game, having all the regulars lined up for the contest.

The team is leaving Washington on the 11:30 morning train, and will take along J. T. Rose, J. J. Morton, Duncal Morton, Tom Irving, F. C. Morley, H. N. Branch, L. W. DeMott, W. W. Ward, C. King, Dr. J. S. Cannon, and D. H. Rhodes. A. Holmes, E. W. Roberts, W. C. McLeave, and J. F. Featherstone will accompany the club as reserves.
